Resumes in October

Archbishop Eamon Martin has said that he longs for "a New Pentecost in Ireland", a fresh outpouring of the Holy Spirit to transform and renew the faith in Ireland. Archbishop Eamon was speaking at the Summit '17 Conference in Croke Park on Thursday 13th July. Addressing the large gathering of young people, Archbishop Eamon said "I am convinced that the Spirit is actively at work in Ireland today preparing us for a new spring-time of growth and abundance in faith. But this will only flourish if we are alert and open to the Spirit's calling and gifting of many people for the service of the Gospel in this time and in this place.

The mission and challenge that we share as lay faithful, religious and priests, is to speak faith, hope and love into a world that is darkened by violence, war, greed and despair; a world that is divided more than ever into those who have and those who have not. Into this world the Spirit anoints us, gifts us, sends us out to renew the face of Earth." catholicbishops.ie

New Ordination in Oranmore Co. Galway

Declan Lohan from the Coast Road in Oranmore is to be ordained to the priesthood, for service in his home diocese of Galway, Kilmacduagh and Kilfenora, on Sunday 23 July in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Oranmore, Co Galway.

This is the first time that an ordination has taken place in the parish of Oranmore.

Bishop Brendan Kelly of Achonry

Diocese, who is a native of Craughwell, has been invited to be the principal celebrant. Canon Michael McLoughlin, the Diocesan Administrator, together with approximately sixty priests will also participate.

Declan gives much of the credit for his vocation to the witness and example of many significant people he has encountered in his life

Including his family, his teachers, his neighbours and his friends. Speaking ahead of his ordination, Declan said, "God put many good, virtuous, prayerful people in my path.

They have helped me to know God and choosing the path to priesthood has made me deeply happy."

Thought for the Day

Our conviction is that God loves us wholly, in the double sense that he loves us fully and completely and his desire is that grace should touch every dimension of our lives. Anyone who has made the discovery of faith, like the merchant in search of fine pearls, will know what is meant: it is so wonderful that it leads to a discipleship costing not less than everything. It can be daunting, of course, but it leads to life in abundance (Jn 10:10).

Prayer:

God of the covenant, faithful and true, you offer us both love and a way of living. As we embrace your love for each of us, help us so to live that we may be fully alive with your Good News. www.tarsus.ie
